Dr. Grady

Dr. John L. Grady, 200 S. W. Avenue "B" has been elected to active membership in the American Academy of General Practice, a national association of 29,000 family doctors.

As a member of the AAGP, Dr. J. L. Grady will be required to complete 150 hours of postgraduate medical study every three years. The program, unique among medical associations, is designed to help member physicians keep abreast of the latest scientific developments in medicine.

Founded in 1947, the AAGP is the country's second largest national medical association.

State Rd. 80 Committee Ask 4-Lanes

The Tri-County State Road 80 Committee adopted a resolution supporting a Road Bond Program including the highway in its entire length.

The committee, meeting in Clewiston last Thursday, reviewed the recent political developments affecting the four-lane of State Road 80. Governor Claude Kirk appointed a feasibility board to study the road bond program. Regularly allocated highway building funds could not do the job of four-lane road, the committee observed.

The committee resolved: "That a four-lane highway from Ft. Myers to West Palm Beach is badly needed and petitions the Governor and State Road Board to proceed with all possible speed to develop a Road Bond Program that will include this four-lane highway in its entire length."

The resolution may be an incentive to the developing of a bonding program that would finance roads that are years behind other states with populations increases comparable to Florida, Chair Commissioner E. W. "Bud" Weaver said.

Pahokee Women Soft-Ball League Begins Practice

We, the women of Pahokee wish to thank City Parks for products for all the ice we can use to Thriftway of Pahokee for $25. and to Royal's Dept. Stores, Time Saver Stores, Dave's Palm Beach Shop and Rashley's Dry Cleaning for sponsoring our softball league.

All other wishing to donate may do so.

Practice is held every Sunday at 8 p. m. in the market of games.

Regular games will begin in July after the little league is over.

All who can come out and support the teams are asked to do so. All games are at the Pahokee City Park.

For further information call Ann Alford, assistant Mgr of Royal's Team.

Farmers Meet To Discuss Imports

Mexican importation of tomatoes is affecting the domestic tomato grower and he doesn't like it.

Growers from south Florida met. They had already formed three organizations in the South Florida area and members of all three came together for an information gathering sessions Monday in Clewiston.

Addressing the growers were Florida Commissioner of Agriculture Doyle Conner, Joe Peters and Wayne Hawkins of the Florida Fruit and Vegetable Association, Julius Moon of the Farmers Committee of the Bankers Association, R. L. Ricker, Sec.-Treasurer of the Farmer and Power Equipment Dealer Association, Bing Miller, field Representative of the Consumer and Marketing Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and Wendell N. Rollason, who is working Cars Stop!

This car hit that one which hit a third and then . . .

And so the story went Friday morning in the fog and smoke around 20 mile bend on State Road 80.

Six accidents were reported to the Highway patrol, all occurring around 7:30 a. m. At least a dozen more occurred where damage was so slight that the drivers did not report the accident.

The fog and smoke was so thick that visibility was about five feet and drivers were not even safe at a dead standstill. In fact, two injuries occurred when drivers got out of their cars after they had collided and other cars, who could not see the pedestrians, hit them.

Everyone has heard the stories about—it was so bad that . . .

But, this one is true because it was so bad that even a greyhound bus had to stop.

Wierengo

Miss Sarah Jane Wierengo has been recently elected to serve on the Student Senate of Young Harris College.

The Student Senate is the student's voice in the activities and plans planned on the campus.

Jane is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Wierengo. She attended Belle Glade High School and was a member of the Art Club, Beta Club, and secretary of the Student Council.

Memorial Day

Memorial day weekend drivers used the lights of their cars to remember others that was a "killing" time.

A shore tally on the way to Clewiston Monday showed that approximately half of the drivers were observing this holiday driving custom.

However, the most conscientious do make mistakes. Here I was, for the 20 minute drive, counting lighted cars vs non-lighted cars, but when I got out of my car in Clewiston, I left my lights on!

It happened to others and it happened to me, but I still think it is a good idea.

By the way, the holiday was over at midnight Tuesday and I understand that some turned their car lights off before the holiday was over . . . crunch!

Sullivan

Roy Sullivan, South Bay, received a baseball certificate from Mercer University, in an Awards Day program. Awards were presented to Roy Sullivan, a good sale Monday.

Bud Dorson, Dave, topped the market with a 34c calf. All prices were steady except slaughter calves which were only slightly higher. Slaughter sales accounted for 65% of the 565 head Monday. Total market value of Monday's run was $58,692.01.

Pete Clemons

Pete Clemons, Manager of the Glades Livestock Market reported a good sale Monday.

Bud Dorson, Dave, topped the market with a 34c calf. All prices were steady except slaughter calves which were only slightly higher. Slaughter sales accounted for 65% of the 565 head Monday. Total market value of Monday's run was $58,692.01.

Each speaker

Each speaker expressed his concern that unlimited importation is not beneficial to the domestic grower. The point was made many times that a domestic food supply is essential in time of crisis and that American policy seemed to be shifting more towards allowing importing in detrimental competition to the American producer.

Wendall Rollason of Dade County who is interested in the farm labor aspect of the problem, concerned with the growers, he said:

Water is in the pipes of the South Shore Water Association to Lake Haroor. Inspecting the first flow are, L. to R., Ed Nestor, manager of South Shore Water Assn., Carlton Randall, Engineer for Gen and Jensen, Consulting Engineers for the project, L. C. Nipper, Lake Harbor resident, and Braden Griffin, with LaGrew contractors for the job.

Lake Harbor To Get Water Service

Water service to Lake Harbor should begin in two weeks, said Ed Nestor, Manager of South Shore Water Association.

The pipes to Lake Harbor from Clewiston now have the chlorine water disinfecting them and will be inspected by the health department and should be cleared for use by Monday, June 12.

Last week Hookers Point received water.

Construction on the main line is completed to Bare Beach and the project is expected to be completed before August.

Banquet Honors Athletes

The team members of the basketball, track, baseball, tennis, golf and cheerleaders of Belle Glade High School were entertained at a banquet held at the Community Center.

The banquet and preceding pool party was sponsored by the Belle Glade Athletic Council, who planned the event and prepared the meal with the project being coordinated by Athletic Director Bill Burke.

Mrs. Wanda Goggans presided.

Precinct 97 Representatives Elected To Rep. Executive Board

The Palm Beach County Republican Executive Committee met in Palm Beach Saturday. Elected to the Committee were Urban S. Felhing and Mrs. Violet V. Felhing representing precinct 97.

The Committee meeting was followed by guest Mike Thompson of the Governor's office speaking on the Governor's War on Crime.

Thompson said, to arrange a privately financed War on Crime was made in order to avoid at least a two year waiting period it would necessitate if the legislature were to have approved the move, Thompson said.

Critics ask why not make use of existing agencies. These agencies have not been effective in the past forty years and no change was seen, he said.

House Speaker, Ralph Turlington has called the private financed aspect of the program immoral. This logic, Thompson said, would, for example, stop public support of political campaigns. This campaign

Florida Votes Sanctions

The Florida Education Association (FEA) Board of Directors, after a poll of its 50,000 membership, announced May 24, 1967, that the school system of Florida is now under a condition of professional sanctions.

"A pass-the-buck Legislature combined with the political ambitions of an irresponsible Governor, in the face of the needs of a financially strangled school system, have brought Florida's schools face to face with the most serious crisis in their history," said FEA President George Dabbs.

"In their failure to deal with the State's most critical educational problems, the Governor and the Legislature have been on a collision course with educators ever since the beginning of the 1967 session," Dabbs pointed out.

The State has been under "Sanctions Alert" since March of 1966 when an investigation by the National Education Association (NEA) revealed a great many ailments of Florida's education system including underfinancing and an overdose of political chicanery.

"Since that time the increasing needs of the schools and the lack of financial support for them have pushed our schools down far below the levels of the surrounding states," Dabbs said.

"Although the dedication of Florida's teachers has attempted to fill a void of public support, the fact remains that education alone cannot do the job," Dabbs added.

"This might be called 'the quiet crisis,' Dabbs said. 'But recent weeks have seen the quiet crisis explode, as the organized teaching profession in this State decided that things have regressed far enough.

"There comes a time when those who believe in what they are doing must stand up and fight," said Dr. Phil Constans, Associate Executive Secretary of the FEA.

"In schools, this is known as the invocation of professional sanctions," he said. "It is a step which is not taken lightly."

Palm Beach Co. Promotion Board Named

Industrial, tourist and business promotion in Palm Beach County will be studied by a new seven-member citizen's committee appointed by the Palm Beach County Commission.

Six members have been appointed. One, a Glades representative, will be appointed this week.

The committee will recommend to the County Commission a single organization that would accomplish the promotion efforts in the field of industry, business and tourism.

The new committee scheduled its first meeting this week.

Early this year the Resources Development Board proposed.

First Baptist Kindergarten Closes Year

The First Baptist Kindergarten and Pre-kindergarten held their closing program on Thursday night, May 25th, in the church. The children participated in songs, finger plays and rhythms. Mrs. James Walls, Kindergarten Chairman, welcomed parents and friends and Dr. A. W. Mathis gave the devotional. The Kindergarten led the audience in Jesus Loves Me, The Pledge of Allegiance and America. Mr. John Fleming, Minister of Music and Education, was the pianist.

Certificates were presented to 45 kindergarten children by their teachers. Open house was held in all kindergarten rooms and parents and friends viewed arts and crafts and kindergarten materials that have been used this year. Refreshments were served.

Teachers and assistants at the First Baptist Kindergarten are: Mrs. David Motes, director-teacher; Mrs. John Rashley, Jr., Teacher; Mrs. Melrose Thompson, teacher; Mrs. George Plunkett, assistant and administrative director. Pre-kindergarten teachers are: Mrs. Russell Tenet and Mrs. Perry Kipling.

PICNIC HELD

On Friday morning, the last day of kindergarten, a picnic was held in the Belle Glade City park. Summer birthday of the children were celebrated at this time. Mrs. John Rashley decorated three big cakes that morning in the kindergarten with the children's names and clowns. Everyone agreed that the morning was much too short and soon it was time to say goodbye and God Bless You to children and teachers for another year.

The First Baptist Kindergarten staff wishes to thank everyone for their cooperation in making our kindergarten a success this year.

Mrs. Riddle Gives Circle Program

The Canonized Circle of the First Baptist Church W. M. U. met in the home of Mrs. Dot Conway for the regular monthly session.

The program was presented by Mrs. Pat Riddle on the subject, "Missionaries in Guatemala." Most of the missionary work in this country is done by use of radio missions, tape recorders and televisions.

Mrs. Riddle told the group. She also pointed out that electronic equipment is a poor substitute for the warmth of

Saint Peter's Lutheran Ends Year's Activities

Saint Peter's Lutheran Kindergarten concluded its 1966-67 term with a formal worship service and reception Friday evening, May 26. During this service, the pupils, their parents, and friends, and the congregation gave grateful thanks to God for His many blessings throughout the year.

The following Kindergarten pupils were awarded certificates of achievements by Dr. Donald Fife, chairman of the Board of Christian Education at Saint Peter's Lutheran Church:

Trina Darlene Baccazzani, William Franklin Cochran, Jr., Patricia Ann Davis, Timothy Mack Davis, Deborah Annette Jones, Dan Michael Ohman, and Jeffrey Carl Price.

During the service, Mrs. Naida Kay Snyder, teacher, and Mrs. Loretta Roseman, substitute teacher, were given recognition of their outstanding work during the year. Earlier in the day, the children and parents enjoyed a picnic in the park following the weekly morning worship service.

Certificates of achievements were also handed Friday night to the members of the weekly day religion classes taught throughout the year by Reverend and Mrs. Richard Roseman. These certificates that the following students successfully completed one year of religious study: Deborah Duda, Douglas Jones, Ken McPherson, Shellee Poul, Laura Snyder, Lenny Snyder, Danny Baughman, Kevin Snyder, and Mark Snyder.

The religion classes are held September through May for children in Grades 1-6 during the week after school. Grades 7 and 8 meet on Saturday during the same months. The Religion classes enjoyed a picnic this past Monday afternoon at Rardin Park. These classes, as well as the Kindergarten will resume August 28.

Although Kindergarten registrations for the 1967-68 term have been very good, over twice the number of students for the past term, a few more applications will be accepted. Interested parties may contact Saint Peter's Lutheran Church at 601 West Canal Street, North, or call 996-5656, or 996-6721.

The Victory Noll Missionary Sisters who have been doing missionary work in a wide area of the Glades section left Wednesday to return to the Mother house of Victory Noll in Huntington, Indiana. There they will receive their assignments for the summer.

The Sisters made their headquarters at St. Philip Benizi Catholic Convent on South Main St.

Sister Gabriel Marie, Sister Gertrude Marie, Sister Ann Joachim and Sister Margaret Therese wish to thank all the parishioners for all their help and cooperation during the past year.

Two of the sisters will not be returning to Belle Glade. Sister Ann Joachim will be going to California and Sister Margaret Therese to Miami. Sister Gabriel Marie and Gertrude Marie expect to return here the middle of August.

THOUGHT OF THE WEEK

The first step to knowledge is to know that we are ignorant.—Cecil.

WHO WILL SUMMER BRING ?

Evidently students will come to Belle Glade this summer to organize, if the article cited last week from "New Left Notes" is any indication.

"New Left Notes" is a house organ for the organization, Students for a Democratic Society, which J. Edgar Hoover described in a discussion of campus disorders: "At the core of . . . campus disorders, and often below the surface we find agitator personnel from organizations such as the communist W. E. B. DuBois Clubs of America and their comrades in the Students for a Democratic Society . . ."

Who are the subscribers of "New Left Notes" and who are the members of the Students for a Democratic Society, and what type of person can we expect will take up the challenge and come to Belle Glade to work in community organizing this summer?

More likely than not it will be a young person who sincerely feels guilty that there should exist in today's society living conditions such as are found in Belle Glade.

It is true, Belle Glade is better than some.

It is also true that 99% of the readers of the Belle Glade Herald do not and would not live in the 500 block of S. W. Ave. B Place.

But, people do live here and no other human being who is fortunate enough not to live here can be indifferent about it. While not being indifferent, we can make excuses or feel sorry for it and still divorce ourselves from the question, "What can I do about it?"

The students who will be coming here this summer have not made excuses and will not pay attention to excuses. They have not divorced themselves from the question, "What can I do about it?"

No matter what we think of them we must acknowledge that they will be answering that question in their own way. The only way we can criticize, this is to answer the question more fully and with better results than they. Then we can say, "Look at us, we are achieving results, join us and accomplish your goals in a better way."

Have we given them an example to follow? These students are reacting in the same way that others reacted in the 1920's and 1930's, in answering Americans social problems. They are willing to accept guidance from the leaders of the Students for a Democratic Society, rather than the conventionally influential in society. Could it be that these students are not motivated by today's society because society is not motivated and is in fact complacent to existing social problems?

These students are concerned. We can not criticize their questions, for they are questions we must ask ourselves. We can criticize their method of answering these social questions, but when we do we should be prepared to present a better alternative. We should lead the dissatisfied to finding workable answers to social problems and self improvement.

The answer of the 1920's and 1930's has proved to be dead ends but road signs need to be erected pointing to a successful route. This can be done best by example.

TEACHERS ? WHAT DO YOU THINK...

For several weeks now the Belle Glade Herald has been collecting odds and ends about education in Florida. We have heard how the teachers are expected to perform herculean feats and on the other side of the fence, why teachers are doing such a poor job. We will present a collage of these materials next week, endeavoring to present as many differing views as possible.

It seems a bit unfair to leave the reader smoldering in his seat with no recourse except a letter to the editor the following week. Therefore, if you feel strongly about our teachers and school system we would like to know about it in time to include as many views as possible. We would prefer signed letters, to insure that what you want said is presented in the proper context. Names will be withheld if there is sufficient cause.

The school year is ending and already next year's help is planned. Legislators are deciding on education monies to be allocated. Teachers are making their demand known through the powerful, some feel too powerful, Florida Education Association. County school boards are being brought to task. Criticism is flying from all sides, and for the most part, people who will pick up the tab, the taxpayers and parents of school children are keeping quiet.

Yes, they talk at parties or over coffee. They are not, as some educators describe them, only interested in the tax burden. The taxpayer is also interested in quality education but is too often quiet about how he feels quality can be achieved.

The professional educators and politicians too often overlook the value of the citizens opinion. The citizen is able to sit in a type of jury box and weight the issue and decide. These decisions, through are too often lost after that cup of coffee or at that party.

Decisions do not have to be lost. When Mr. Gallop takes that poll, the professionals pay attention. Whenever citizens make known their thoughts, the professionals pay attention.

Not only in the issue of education, but in all issues that are of public concern, the individual must seek out channels through which he may express himself, and made the professionals sit up and take notice!

FOUNTAIN, COLO., ADVERTISER & NEWS: "Time was when a private company and/or individual was expected to look after his own welfare and charity was something to take only when absolutely necessary. America was a strong, moral nation, with parents having sole responsibility for their offspring. Crime was much less than it is today, those trespassing on the rights of others were treated as criminals and not 'victims of society' and the individual had the right to exercise his own free will. Divorce, drunkenness, immorality were not prevalent in the percentages of today. Statistics prove that these percentages have grown much faster than has the population."

Farm Population

Doyle Conner

America's farm population is dropping at an estimated rate of five percent a year. This is a disturbing situation to me because American farmers now are being forced to hire part-time workers. Many of these are solely or primarily engaged in non-agricultural work.

The farm population, nationwide, has declined by four million since 1960, when there were 15.6 million farm residents.

By April of 1966, an average of 11.6 million persons were living on farms in rural areas of the nation, according to a U. S. Department of Agriculture census survey.

The 1966 estimate of farm residents is 768,000 less than the 1965 estimate.

If farmers are to maintain a dependable, adequate labor force, we in agriculture must strive to raise the level of living conditions for the farm workers by increasing incentives and improving the physical environment.

The unemployment rate among farm residents traditionally is lower than that of persons engaged in non-farm work. However, the payment of more and more welfare and unemployment benefits apparently is depleting the available farm labor force.

We find ourselves in this situation at a time when attempts are being made to have this nation reduce or remove its present duties and tariffs on foreign-produced agricultural products.

American farmers are being forced to compete unfairly with foreign countries which have sub-standard levels of living as compared to living standards in the United States.

Many American agricultural producers are finding it impossible to successfully fight the battle. Some have closed their businesses in this country and have taken their capital to foreign countries where labor is much cheaper.

Such a trend could result in the United States losing its position as the best-fed nation in the world.

Should that happen, the American people would have to depend on the mercy of foreign governments for food. This is a definite possibility if tariffs are reduced or lifted, and the damaging effects of foreign imports are not remedied.

Great progress has been made during the past few years in the producing of leaner, meat-type animals.

Consumers now eat more of the lean portion because packers and retailers trim more of the fat from cuts of meat.

Pork, in particular, does not have the favorable image it deserves in the eyes of many in the medical profession, according to a recent survey by the National Livestock and Meat Board (NLMB).

Current information shows that the lean portion of cooked pork is no higher in fat than that of beef and lamb. It also has been proven that the fat of pork, as are all other food fats, is nearly completely digestible.

Regarding dietary cholesterol and type of dietary fat in relation to heart disease, the NLMB reports there is little convincing evidence that high blood cholesterol causes heart disease.

Uncle Dan from Doolie Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

The fellers at the country store Saturday night was discussing what they called the good old days of long ago.

What brings this matter up was Ed Doolie reporting on a item he had saw in his latest pamphlet from the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

This item reported the horse population of the United States was climbing now after sliding for a few years. They said it was on account of so many city folks, schools and colleges going in for horseback riding. Ed said this piece claimed it was catching the country short on blacksmiths but they were doing something about it. The piece said the University of Maine and Cornell University and other colleges were putting in "farrier" courses for this sudden emergency.

Ed said he looked it up in his dictionary and "farrier" was a $40 word for blacksmith. He allowed as how he never thought he'd see the day when blacksmiths and colleges would go together.

Zek Grubb said he could recollect when they was a blacksmith shop on ever street and nobody had ever heard of a service station. That got the ball rolling on the good old days and, honest Mister Editor, when the fellers at the store got talking about what they recollect in the old days, it's hard to tell when they're telling the truth or making it up. Fer instance, Zek said he had granddaddy's own bakers started putting out sliced bread. That would make Zek about 100 years old, but 25 year don't mean nothing to Zek when he gets to talking about the good old days.

Clem Webster said he could recollect back when he went to the city once a year he would walk three blocks just to see a lady step into a trolley car so he could get a peak at her ankles.

Bug Hookum said he could recollect when he'd get a haircut for 25 cent and the shine boy would brush him off. Now, lamented Bug, we got 52 haircuts and he doubted if they was a barber shop in the state that owned a whiskbroom.

Josh Clodhopper told the fellers he proposed to his old lady in a letter he mailed with a 2-cent stamp. I reckon that Josh was back yonder and in good standing in the gitting-olddays.

Personal, Mister Editor, I try to take the years and changes as they come. When I was a boy a girl got all dolled up in fancy clothes to get attention from the men and now she gets the same effect by taking 'em off. I was a good gazer then and I'm a good gazer now.

Some of the fellers got a little sad about growing old, but I figger if I wasn't growing old I'd be in the cemetery, so I ain't complaining about the years.

Yours truly,
Uncle Dan

LABOR LAW REFORMS NEEDED

National labor law reform is badly needed in order to correct the present imbalance between labor and management. There are many areas in which labor's power far outweighs that of management, and labor frequently moves into new areas that traditionally are the sole concern of management.

The old doctrine of government neutrality in labor disputes has so long been abandoned that it seems almost archaic today.

Labor law reform should cover these specific areas:

1. The scope of collective bargaining should not include such basic management decisions as the right to contract out work, the right to close a plant, or the right to choose methods of operation.
2. The employer should have the right of free speech at all times.
3. Common-situs and other picketing designed to obtain bargaining rights should be outlawed.
4. The individual employee's right to decide in a secret ballot election, whether or not he wishes to be represented by a union should be protected without exception.
5. The rights of union members to dissent and to refrain from union activities should be preserved inviolate.
6. Unions should be permitted

LET'S KEEP IT IN BALANCE

and restore a balance of power between labor and management. It is necessary to create a public awareness of the problems caused in this country by excessive union power.

STRIKE AGAINST AMERICAN PEOPLE at the very time when most people are on the move.

Now comes the threat of a rail strike. Here again, the public would be the chief victim. For normal operation of the railroads is essential to the prosperity of this country.

Before the strike becomes a reality, it is imperative that the public opinion be made evident to the six railroad shop unions. They should be made to understand that the American people have had enough of union high-handedness.

The Chicago Daily News, commenting on the rail strike threat, recently said: "It should be evident that the strike blocking a settlement has been union intransigence—supported by the administration's reluctance to act." Indeed the administration proposal is to set up a five-member study committee to mediate the dispute and put off the showdown until 1969.

This timetable," said the Daily News, "should carry past the presidential election of 1968: the voters must not be distracted by a crippling rail strike in a campaign year. It might turn them against the administration."

So it might. The public might well be sickened by further tender solicitude, on the part of the White House, for the want of the union bosses who have no hesitation in threatening a strike which injures the American people and which would seriously impede the nation's defense effort in Vietnam.

There has been altogether too much delay in arriving at a showdown on union tyranny. Union power has to be curbed. This is a basic public need and public issue. The American people must act decisively.

Consider what the printer's union in New York City did recently in the case of the World Journal Tribune. Seven hundred thousand New Yorkers bought that newspaper each day, but the paper was forced to stop the presses and close its doors. Two thousand six hundred men and women employed by the paper lost their jobs because the union was determined to make wage demands that the newspaper management could not possibly afford to meet.

Indeed the World Journal Tribune had been put together as a combination of three other dailies that had been virtually "done in" by the unions. The net result of the union activity in New York City is that the metropolis has only one afternoon daily newspaper, and that of an ultra-liberal character.

The union leaders, who wield this enormous power, should be made to understand that the individual members of their livelihood—so shocking, tragic, and outrageous record for a free country that prides itself on a free press. Obviously, the press can't be free when the union leaders have the capacity to muzzle a newspaper by illogical economic demands.

It also could be wrecked by irresponsible unionism. In the case of the railroads, they strike in a campaign year to fight for modernization. Today's railroad managements, however, have practiced remarkable success in wedding out 19th century work attitudes.

They have developed giant new freight and passenger trains, new business (such as the movement of new automobiles on new rail-lines) introduced "unit" trains that provide lost cost shipment for high volume service, and have prepared the rails for a brilliant new era in cargo and passenger service.

Today the U. S. railroads represent a $27 billion investment. Yet this investment could be severely injured if the railroads unions were allowed to return to the work practices of the past.

Consider what the printer's union in New York City did recently in the case of the World Journal Tribune. Seven hundred thousand New Yorkers bought that newspaper each day, but the paper was forced to stop the presses and close its doors. Two thousand six hundred men and women employed by the paper lost their jobs because the union was determined to make wage demands that the newspaper management could not possibly afford to meet.

Indeed the World Journal Tribune had been put together as a combination of three other dailies that had been virtually "done in" by the unions. The net result of the union activity in New York City is that the metropolis has only one afternoon daily newspaper, and that of an ultra-liberal character.

Senior Last Will and Testament

Don Campbell; to the upcoming students of BGHS all the hardships and thrills of a senior year; to J. D. S. the memories of all the great times we've had.

R. Coleman Smith; to S. Knight, D. Murray and B. Thibault, one slightly used laugh for "The Nifty Keen Neatos"; to next year's Class History class an interpreter to decipher Mr. Moe Brown's lectures; to Coach Hammond, one "individual"; to J. Thibault, one broken tennis shoe-str; three words, and my little red ball-gown.

Sue Atkinson; to Diane H., the road to Clewiston; to Joy P., my clothes and to the boys of Belle Glade High School, my little sister Gail.

Vickie Wilson: am delighted to leave.

Janice Blumenthal: want nothing more than to leave.

Ronnie Gerrey: bid this antiquated feudal system goodbye on behalf of all the S. O. C's.

Kevin Walsh; to Bruce Miller my ability to do nothing and still pass; to the teachers of BGHS my little brother Tommy.

Steve Kirckman; to Maria A., our special "cokes" at the store; to Jorge B., my position as manager at Dave's; to Estrella A., another letter; and to the poor teachers at BGHS, approximately 8 brothers and sisters.

Sonny Campbell: to BGHS, nothing!

Sandy Goodbread: to the girls of BGHS my future brother-in-law, Doug R. To Pat O., Gail S., and Marion S., the road from S. B. to B. G., may they journey it as I have. And the road from B. G. to Pahokee, to Pat B. To the DCT Class of '68, "two very loveable teachers, Sherry Ward and Smilie Joe. To BGHS, my two brothers and one sister, and I hope they have as much fun in school as I have had. Lee Richmond: to Paul B., my seat in Contemporary History, may he get as much sleep there as I did; to Tommy A., my ability to speak Spanish and know he will use it often; to Arthur J., and Bruce M., my well-known ability to play golf, may they share it equally for there is enough to make them both great; and to BGHS my brother Barney and my sister Diane.

Dennis Snyder: to JKL, one unbroken egg, may he crack it over his head; to Mr. B., a burp; to Steve K., my place at Murray's dinner table; to Doug M., my old cue stick because I never use it; and to BGHS, one bird of Paradise, may he fly over the school, drop a bomb, and blow the place to bits.

Sherrill Burgess: "Janice and I are going to play tennis. And I'm going to sew some clothes for school, read, and sleep."

Prom Was An Adventure

One May 19, the romantic, candlelit gymnasium was a quite different from its usual drab, athletic appearance.

The dreamy couples who drifted through a "Roman Adventure" were dazzled by the 1967 Prom.

After a week of hard, detailed work, the Juniors presented the Seniors with the annual prom, "Roman Adventure" was the theme and the decorations set the mood in the ruins of ancient Italy. The stage represented the rolling green hills of Rome and the remains of the Golden Age of Italy. At the opposite end of the gym, a graceful gondola floated on a sea of blue and green angel hair. On the South side of the gym was a sidewalk café, topped with a striped awning. The atmosphere of romantic Rome was completed with a series of murals painted by the students.

'67 Rambler Dedicated To Stevens and Mrs Rogers

MISS ROGERS

MR. STEVENS

The long-awaited 1967 Rambler finally found its destination at BGHS on May 22, 1967. The annuals were dedicated during an assembly on May 23, 1967.

The 1967 Rambler was dedicated to Miss Kathleen Rogers and Mr. Frederick Stevens.

The class of 1967 dedicated the Rambler to Miss Rogers for her 25th anniversary at Belle Glade High School. For Mr. Stevens' long hours of work with the bands, the class of 1967 dedicated their yearbook to him.

The 1967 Rambler has a maroon cover with a gold BGHS crest. The cover design is carried out on all the divisions pages.

The Rambler has no written theme; instead, the journal class tried to portray pictorially the 1967 school year of a student at BGHS.

New touches to the Rambler are the embossing of BGHS, 1967 on the back cover of the annual; running headlines in all sections; a senior directory; captions and identifications under all pictures; a summary of the sports seasons; and, copy to reproduce the many changing moods of the school year.

The 1967 Rambler had a new look this year. After members of the Journalism class attended workshops in Gainesville at the University of Florida and Coral Gables at the FSPA District Convention, they decided to update the Rambler. New trends and ideas were brought to the attention of the class.

With these new trends and ideas in mind, the class began their work on the yearbook. There was complete new copy throughout the book, and running headlines were introduced for the first time. This copy summarized the year's events for sports, clubs, activities, and classes.

Along with new copy came new layouts. A mosaic layout was carried throughout the book.

While working on the Rambler, the class tried to go by the rules and regulations that make a good annual.

Some questions that have been asked about the new Rambler are:

1. Why is there no Last Will and Testament?

Because it is outdated and old-fashioned. It is a wasted

3 or 4 pages of nothing.

2. Why are there no nicknames or cute quotations under pictures?

Because they are silly and have no place in a yearbook. They belong in autograph books.

3. Why are the Senior's last in the classes section?

Because the Journalism class saved the Best for Last. Also the trend is Senior's near the end.

4. Why are the end sheets plain?

Because they made a more attractive book and give the students more room for autographs.

5. Why are the superlatives only half a page?

Because space had to be conserved and a person can see himself as well in a half page as in a full page.

6. What is a Senior Directory and Why is there one?

A Senior Directory is a list of each Senior's activities and ambition. It is located at the end of the Senior section. With this section, Senior layouts were much easier and better.

Vacation Fun Includes Safe Driving

"Bring 'Em Back Alive" is the advice given to vacation pleasure "hunters" by the Florida Highway Patrol as thousands of Florida families prepare to take to the highways for vacation trips and frequent weekend recreational jaunts.

Patrol Commander, Colonel H. N. Kirkman, said today, "The first and most important decision the head of a family should make in preparing for a vacation trip is the determination to bring his family back alive after the extended highway travel."

Kirkman went on to say that failure to consider the hazards of highway travel "can change a vacation into a nightmare." One of the most frequent driving mistakes made by vacationing motorists is trying to squeeze too many miles into too few hours.

Preparation should include putting your car in A-1 condition, be ready for emergencies, plan your trip well, and load your car carefully. Along the way you should keep your mind on your driving, be prepared for changing conditions, obey traffic signs and signals, and keep your distance from other road users.
